Where MEME meets Philanthropy

Crypto Creatures aims to leverage the power and virality of memes to support noble causes

How does it work?

Crypto Creatures develops creatures in the form of meme tokens that possess a specific theme, Gengareum being the first.

Charities and organizations are then selected that match the token's theme.

As the token hits predetermined market cap thresholds, a percentage of the market cap is donated to the selected charities or organizations. Also at a predetermined market cap, a new crypto creature will be developed with a new theme and new charitable focus.

What's in it for investors?

From an investor standpoint, Gengareum is purely for speculation. The token has no utility and is for entertainment purposes only. Investors can enter or exit their positions as they see fit.

All philanthropy efforts are handled by the project team and have no direct tie to the token itself other than the observed market value thresholds. This enables the token to function as a meme token, allowing it to trade freely, reach a significantly larger audience, achieve viral popularity, and unlock greater potential than a token solely focused on charitable purposes.

The top 100 holders of the token observed when the token reaches a specified market cap will receive complimentary tokens of the next crypto creature token once it's released. This can create a compounding effect as more and more crypto creature tokens are developed. Invest early at lower prices and accumulate as many tokens as you can to make it in the top 100!

Thank you!

The Crypto Creatures and Gengareum project team appreciate your interest in our tokens. Whether you're here to support a specific cause or if you just love to trade crypto, your participation ensures a meaningful impact. Join us in our mission to make the world a better place, one Crypto Creature at a time!
